

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. LIBRARY NOTES.

1. The Library Council.—The general care and supervision of the University Library is intrusted to the Library Council. This Council consists of the President of the University, who shall be ex-officio Chairman of the Council, of the Librarian, or in his absence the Acting Librarian, and five elected members, one of whom shall be elected by the Executive Committee, and four by the General Faculty. The election of members shall take place annually as near the beginning of the collegiate year as may be practicable. Persons elected shall hold office till their successors are chosen.

The members of the Council for the year 1892-93 are: President J. G. Schurman, Chairman, and G. W. Harris, Secretary, ex-officio; R. H. Treman, elected by the Executive Committee; Professors L. H. Bailey, W. T. Hewett, E. L. Nichols, and C. M. Tyler, elected by the Faculty.

2. The Library Staff.—The staff of the University Library comprises the following persons: George William Harris, Librarian; Andrew Curtis White, Assistant Librarian (in charge of accessions and classification); Willard Henry Austin, Assistant Librarian (in charge of the Reference Library); George Lincoln Burr, Librarian of the White Historical Library; Mary Fowler, First Cataloguer; Gertrude Van Dusen, Cataloguer; Alexey Vasilyevich Babine, Cataloguer in the White Library; Leon Nelson Nichols, Assistant in the Reference Library; William Webster Root, Assistant in Accession Department.

3. Library Statistics.—The following items concerning the growth and use of the Library are epitomized from the Annual Report of the Librarian for the year 1891-92. The year was marked by the opening of the new Library building, the gift of Henry W. Sage, accompanied by an endowment fund of $300,000; the reception and incorporation of the White Historical Library, presented by Ex-President Andrew D. White in 1887; and the establishment of the Reference Library in the new Reading-Room.

During the year there were added to the collections making up the General Library 5,759 volumes, and about 1,200 pamphlets, and to the Law School Library 727 volumes, making the total additions of the year to the University Library 6,486 volumes, and about 1,200 pamphlets. At the date of the Report the General Library, including the White Historical Library and the seminary collections, contained 101,815 volumes and some 25,000 pamphlets, while the Law School Library contained 9,192 volumes, in all 111,000 volumes, exclusive of pamphlets. The recent presentation of the Moak Library, numbering some 13,000 volumes, to the Law School by Mrs. Boardman and Mrs. Williams, as a memorial to Dean Boardman, will more than double the extent of the Law Library, and make it one of the first in the country.

Of the 5,759 volumes added to the General Library during the year, 2,350 volumes were received in gifts, as against 1,504 volumes in 1890-91, and 946 volumes in 1889-90. Especially noteworthy among the gifts is a remarkably complete collection of Rhaeto-Romanic literature presented by Willard Fiske. This collection numbers about 1,000 volumes, and is by far the richest collection on this subject in America. A catalogue of the collection is now in press.

At the opening of the new building, a well-equipped reference library, numbering about 6,000 volumes, was established in the reading-room, to the shelves of which all readers have free access; in addition to the regular seminary collections, a large number of volumes was transferred from the stacks to the seminary rooms; and with the institution of a separate periodical room, current periodicals were no longer called for at the delivery desk. Under these circumstances a considerable falling off in the number of volumes given out at the delivery desk might have been expected; but during the period embraced in the Report the number of volumes recorded as given out is 29,736, as against 26,988 volumes in the corresponding period of 1890-91, — a very gratifying increase. Taking into account these changed conditions, and judging from observations made of the use of the books in the reference library, it is safe to estimate the use of the library by students to have been four times greater than it was last year.

The number of cards of admission to the stacks, granted during the year, was 151, as against 178 cards of admission to the alcoves of the old library in the preceding year. The decrease in the number of cards issued falls entirely within the historical and literary departments, those granted for the scientific and technical departments showing an increase of over fifty per cent. The falling off is due in part, no doubt, to the free access given to the reference library, but chiefly to the equipment of the numerous seminary rooms in history and literature, and the free admission of advanced students in history to the White Historical Library.

4. Columbiana. — From the collections of the University Library, and more especially from the White Historical Library, there has been brought together an exhibition of Columbiana, comprising rare volumes, portraits, maps, and fac-similes relating to the discovery of the New World. Among them are the Imago Mundi of Pierre d'Ailly (1483); Giustiniani's Polyglot Psalter (1516), containing the earliest biographical sketch of Columbus; the oration of Carvaial, Bishop of Carthagenæ, before the Pope at Rome, June 19, 1493; the May edition of Waldsee-müller's Cosmographiæ Introductio (1507); fac-similes of the first letter of Columbus, and of his letter to the Bank of St. George, Genoa; a series of editions of Ptolemy's Geography, ranging from 1482 to 1522, showing the gradual changes introduced into the maps after the first discovery of America. These are perhaps the most noteworthy objects in the exhibit, which includes a number of less important works, fac-similes of early maps, and portraits of Columbus.

5. Mormonism. — The books on Mormonism catalogued on pp. 46-48 of this number of the Bulletin were mainly collected by Ex-President White during his visit to Utah in the spring of 1892. They consist chiefly of histories of the Mormon community and of its leaders, of its sacred and devotional books, and of its doctrinal and educational literature. The only notable rarity is a copy of the original edition of the Book of Mormon. A score or so of minor pamphlets, unavoidably omitted here, will be inserted in the next Bulletin.

Including the monthly Summary of the Bureau.

New York State Meteorological Bureau. Crop bulletin, vol. iv., no. 1-27, April-Oct., 1892. [Ithaca, N. Y., 1892.] 27 broadsides.

Each bulletin is accompanied by a list of crop correspondents of the Bureau.

By Officers.

In the present list are included the titles of books, pamphlets, and signed contributions to periodicals, transactions, etc., published by officers and fellows of the University during the period extending from April 1, 1892, to March 31, 1893, together with a few of earlier date not recorded in former lists. As no returns have been received from officers now absent from the University on leave, the record of their publications is not here given, but it will be included in the next annual list.

RECENT GIFTS TO THE LIBRARY.

DURING the year 1893 the University Library has received three remarkable gifts, any one of which is in itself sufficiently important to make this year a noteworthy one in the annals of the Library.

First came, in February, the noble gift of the comprehensive and at the same time carefully selected law library of about twelve thousand volumes, collected by the late Nathaniel C. Moak of Albany. This collection, which had long been known to lawyers as the finest private law library in America, was purchased and presented to the Law School of Cornell University as a memorial of the first Dean of the School, Judge Douglas Boardman, by Mrs. A. M. Boardman and Mrs. G. R. Williams. Of this library a competent legal authority has declared that but one or two collections in the land are as perfect and complete. The series of English reports, beginning with the early Year Books, comes down without a break to the present day. Equally full and complete are the numerous colonial reports, while in our own country every state of the Union is richly represented. Especially noteworthy are the extensive collections of legal periodicals, and of commentaries and text-books. By this gift the Law School Library was at once more than doubled in extent, and placed among the leading law libraries of the country.

Next came, in June, the munificent gift of the extensive library of the late Professor Zarncke, purchased and presented to the University by Mr. William H. Sage, a member of the Board of Trustees. Friedrich Zarncke, who in 1850 founded the "Literarisches Centralblatt," the leading critical journal of Germany, and continued to edit it until his death, was Professor of the German Language and Literature in the University of Leipsic from 1858 to 1891, and in the course of his academic career collected an unusually complete working library, especially in the fields of Germanic philology and German literature. This collection, which numbers about thirteen thousand volumes, has some unique features deserving fuller notice than can be given at this time, as the books have only just arrived, and therefore any full and accurate account of the numerous treasures of the collection is out of the question. Speaking generally, however, it may be said that not only are the learned periodicals and standard philological works richly represented, but countless minor treatises and dissertations, for the most part unprocurable through the ordinary trade channels, many of them presentation copies to Zarncke himself, found their way into his hands, and all were carefully preserved and classified in his collection, with their value enhanced by his numerous manuscript annotations. Himself the most distinguished editor of the famous national epic, the "Nibelungenlied," it is not surprising that in his library the section devoted to the Nibelungen literature contains over three hundred titles, including almost every edition of the poem; but the literature relating to the Minnesingers is well-nigh as fully represented. And even these collections are surpassed in extent by the special collections devoted to Lessing, Goethe, and Christian Reuter. The Lessing collection is especially noteworthy for the number of early editions and impressions of the separate works of Lessing here brought together. For example, we find here nine distinct editions or impressions of "Nathan the Wise" published in 1779, the first year of its appearance. Deserving of mention, too, is the series of editions of Lessing's "Kleinigkeiten," first issued anonymously in rather curious typographical guise at Frankfurt in 1751. The largest of the special collections is that of Goethe literature, numbering about seven hundred works, including a remarkable series of editions of the collected works of the poet, while the extent of the Faust literature here brought together is surprising to anyone but a specialist in this field. Unique in several respects is the little collection of the works of Christian Reuter, the creator of Schelmuffsky, whose fate it was to disappear completely in the character of his creation, and whose identity was discovered only a few years ago by Zarncke himself, the whole story forming an interesting episode in German literary history. Nor is it only in the fields of literature and philology that the Zarncke collection is rich. It contains, for example, a wealth of rare and valuable material on mediæval history in general, and on the early history of universities in particular.

The third great gift of the year is a remarkably complete collection of Dante literature, presented during the summer by Professor Willard Fiske. This collection, which was brought together by the donor in the almost incredibly brief space of six months, and to which he is still making constant additions, already numbers nearly two thousand volumes, and is surpassed by few if any similar collections outside of Italy. It contains, besides the editio princeps of the "Convito" printed at Florence in 1490, eight fifteenth-century editions of the "Divine Comedy," beginning with the rare editio princeps printed at Foligno by Numeister in April, 1472. This copy is enriched with numerous and extended annotations by the poet Luca Pulci, brother of the more famous poet Luigi Pulci. The other "fifteeners" are the editions of Venice, 1477, with the commentary of Jacopo della Lana; Venice, 1484; Brescia, 1487; Venice (Benali), 1491; Venice (P. Cremonese), 1491;

Venice, 1493; and Venice, 1498. Of the thirty editions of the "Comedy" published in the sixteenth century, twenty-two are to be found in the collection. Beginning with the rare first Aldine edition of 1502, with the anchor, and its still rarer counterfeit, issued probably in the same year, there are here the editions of 1506 (Florence), 1506 (Toscolano), 1512, 1515, 1520, 1529, 1536, 1544, 1547, 1551, 1552, 1554, 1555, 1564, 1568, 1569, 1571, 1575, 1578, 1595. Of the three editions which alone were issued in the whole course of the seventeenth century, two, those of Venice, 1613, and Padua, 1629, are in the collection. The numerous editions of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries are richly represented, and mention can be made of a few of the more notable ones only, as the Zatta edition, Venice, 1757-58; the handsome Florentine edition of 1817-18, known as the "Anchor" edition, which the American translator of Scartazzini's Dante Manual, by a strange misapprehension, informs us was edited by Ancora; the curious Roveta edition of 1820, in which the "Inferno" is printed in white ink on dark purple paper, the "Purgatorio" in black ink on olive paper, and the "Paradiso" in black ink on pure white paper; the beautiful Pickering diamond edition of 1823; and the microscopical Milanese edition of 1878, said to be printed from the smallest type ever used. Rich, too, is the collection in illustrations of the poem, containing, among many others, the designs of Botticelli, Doré, Flaxman, Genelli, Scaramuzza, Stradanus, and Traquair. Present, too, are all the principal translations into Armenian, Catalan, Danish, Dutch, French, German, Greek, Hebrew, Hungarian, Latin, Polish, Sanskrit, Spanish (including the rare first edition of the Villegas translation, printed at Burgos in 1515), Swedish, and even a specimen of a version in Volapük, while the series of English translations is an almost unbroken one. In biographies, commentaries, and critical literature concerning Dante, the collection is also very full, containing many rare occasional publications and privately printed tracts.

The number of volumes added to the Library by these three gifts alone is about twenty-seven thousand, thus, with the ordinary additions of the year, bringing the total number of volumes in the University Library very nearly up to one hundred and fifty thousand.

RECENT GIFTS TO THE LIBRARY.

AMONG the gifts to the Library received since the publication of the last number of the Bulletin, a few of the more important are worthy of special mention.

To the generosity of ex-President Andrew D. White, the Library is indebted for the gift of a remarkably rich and extensive Spinoza collection, recently purchased by him in Leipsic. Though not absolutely complete, it is probably the largest collection of Spinoza literature to be found anywhere, and represents the labor of fifty years of diligent collecting. All the editions of Spinoza's works are present,—from the earliest to the latest. The "Tractatus Theologico-politicus," as is well known, was first published anonymously, and with a fictitious imprint, in 1670; but it was only a few years ago that Dr. Land, in preparing the latest edition of Spinoza's works, discovered that four distinct impressions of the "Tractatus" were issued in that year. These four impressions are here, for the first time, brought together in one library, affording ample opportunity for the careful study of the differences in type, and other variations which distinguish them from each other. Rich also is the collection in the authorities for the life of Spinoza; and among these may be noted two manuscript copies of the account of Spinoza's life attributed to Dr. Lucas, which was for some time circulated only in that form. "It was often associated, under the common title, 'La vie et l'esprit de Mr. Benoît de Spinoza,' with a certain 'Traité des trois imposteurs,' which has nothing to do with Spinoza, and is again distinct from the Latin book, "De tribus impostoribus," though it pretends to be from a Latin original." The commentaries on Spinoza's philosophy, and the critical and controversial writings concerning it, form, as might be expected, by far the larger portion of the collection which numbers in all four hundred and thirty-five volumes, and is accompanied by an almost complete series of the portraits of Spinoza. To ex-President White the Library is also indebted for a valuable collection of works on Russian history, including the magnificently illustrated works descriptive of the coronation of Mikhaïl Feodorovitch, Alexander II., and Alexander III.; and also for a considerable body of rare or costly works illustrating the history of superstition and the early history of the sciences,—among them the "Mélanges d'archéologie" and the "Nouveaux mélanges" of Cahier and Martin, and the "Spicilegium" of Pitra.

Another important gift is the collection of works on Romance philology, numbering nearly two hundred volumes, presented by Professor T. F. Crane. This is an excellent working collection, and contains not a few works now very difficult to obtain, especially those dealing with Provençal literature.

From Baron Tauchnitz, the well-known Leipsic publisher, the Library has received an interesting collection of standard works, comprising the selection of the philological and theological publications of the Tauchnitz firm which was placed on exhibition in the German House at Jackson Park, during the World's Fair.

From the French "Cercle de la Librairie de Paris," the Library has received a similar gift of a selection of the standard and representative works exhibited at the World's Fair by the French publishers.

From the publishers, Messrs. D. C. Heath & Co., of Boston, the Library has received a nearly complete series of their educational publications, numbering about one hundred volumes.

In accordance with the expressed wish of the late George W. Schuyler, long an honored trustee of the University, his heirs have recently presented to the Library his valuable collection of books relating to the history of the State of New York, including many interesting and important genealogical works.

To the Dante collection, of which a brief description was given in the last number of the Bulletin, the donor, Professor Fiske, has been making large additions, some six hundred volumes relating to Dante having been recently received from him. The collection now numbers nearly three thousand volumes, and undoubtedly is already the richest collection of Dante literature to be found outside of Italy. To have brought together so complete a collection within a year is certainly a remarkable achievement, even for a veteran collector.

By the gift from a Cornell graduate of a modest fund of one thousand dollars, to be called, in accordance with the wish of the giver, the Lucy Harris

Fund, a foundation has been laid for the gradual upbuilding of another special collection. The purpose of this gift is the formation of a memorial collection of the Victorian poets; accordingly the income of this fund will be applied to the purchase of the writings of the English poets of the Victorian period, or of biographical and critical works dealing with the poets of this period. There are still many subjects for which at present no regular provision is made from the general library funds, and it is to be hoped that this will soon be but one of many such special funds contributed by Cornell Alumni to their Alma Mater.

One of the earliest gifts to the Library was the important collection of books and pamphlets relating to slavery and the anti-slavery contest in this country, presented, in 1870, by the Rev. Samuel J. May, of Syracuse. This fact lends an added interest to the admirable bust of Mr. May, the work of Isabella Graham Gifford, of Syracuse, which has recently been placed in the Library. A copy of this bust in marble was presented by Mr. May's church to the Syracuse Public Library. A second copy in marble was sent to the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia in 1876, where it received one of the four medals awarded to American sculptors. It had been Miss Gifford's wish that a copy of the bust of Mr. May might be placed with the May Collection at Cornell University Library. After her death, in 1889, the original plaster cast became the property of her friend Paulina Saxton Pope, who has now presented it to the University, to find a fitting home in the Library, near the May Anti-Slavery Collection.

ADDITIONS TO THE RHAETO-ROMANIC COLLECTION.

In December, 1891, Mr. Willard Fiske, the first Librarian of the University, presented to the University Library a remarkably complete collection of Rhaeto-romanian literature, which he had brought together, during a sojourn in the Engadine, in the preceding summer. The collection includes, besides Rhaeto-romanian texts, many works dealing with the Rhaeto-romanian language, and with the history and description of the region in which the language is spoken. A catalogue of the collection was published in April, 1894, containing one thousand and fifty-eight titles. To the collection, which is undoubtedly the largest devoted to this subject in this country, sundry additions have been made by Mr. Fiske since the catalogue was printed, and a list of the titles thus added is given herewith.

— [Review of] La morale de Spinoza; par R. Worms. (Same, May, 1894, vol. iii., p. 350.)

— [Review of] Spinoza; par L. Brunshvicg. (Same, March, 1895, vol. iii., p. 194.)

Atkinson, G. F. Additional note on the fungi of Blowing Rock, N. C. (Jour. of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Soc., 1893, vol. x., p. 78.)

— Additions to the erysipheæ of Alabama. (Same, p. 74.)

— Artificial cultures of an entomogenous fungus. (Botanical Gazette, April, 1894, vol. xix., p. 129.)

— Comparative study of the structure and function of the sporangia of ferns in the dispersion of spores. (In Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science. Proceedings, 1893, vol. xliii., p. 253.)

— Completozia complens Lohde. (Botanical Gazette, Nov., 1894, vol. xix., p. 467.)

— The exoascææ [sic] of stone fruits. (Garden and Forest, 21 Nov., 1894, vol. vii., p. 463.)

— The extent of the annulus and the function of the different parts of the sporangium of ferns in the dispersion of spores. (Bulletin of the Torrey Botanical Club, Nov., 1893, vol. xx., p. 435.)

Also in the International Jour. of Microscopy and in Natural Science, April, 1894.

— Intelligence manifested by the swarm spores of rhizopodium globosum. (Botanical Gazette, Dec., 1894, vol. xix., p. 503.)

— Leaf curl and plum pockets; contribution to the knowledge of the prunicolous exoascææ of the United States. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, Sept., 1894, no. 73, p. 319.)

— Notes on some exoascææ of the United States. (Bulletin of the Torrey Botanical Club, July, 1894, vol. xxi., p. 372.)

— Olpitrichum, a new genus of mucedinous fungi. (Botanical Gazette, June, 1894, vol. xix., p. 244.)

— Preliminary note on the relation between the sterile and fertile leaves of onoclea. (Botanical Gazette, Sept., 1894, vol. xix., p. 374.)

Also abstract in the Proceedings of the Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science, 1894, vol. xliii., p. 290.

— Preliminary note on the swarm spores of pythium and ceratiomyxa. (Same, p. 375.)

Also abstract in the Proceedings of the Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science, 1894, vol. xliii., p. 290.

— Some septorizeæ from Alabama. (Jour. of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Soc., 1893, vol. x., p. 76.)

— Steps toward a revision of the lino-sporous species of North American graminicolous hypocreææ. (Bulletin of the Torrey Botanical Club, April, 1894, vol. xxi., p. 222.)

Austin, W. H. Combination order and shelf-list slip. (Library Jour. Feb., 1895, vol. xx., p. 49.)

— Report on aids and guides. (Same, Dec., 1894, vol. xix., p. 77.)

Read at the sixteenth general conference of the American Library Association held at Lake Placid, N. Y., Sept. 17-22, 1894.

— Southworth library. (Dryden [N. Y.] Herald, 3 Oct., 1894, vol. xxiv., no. 13, p. 5.)

Bailey, L. H. The horticulturist's rule-book. 3d ed. New York, 1895. 16°. pp. ix + 302.

— Agricultural changes in central New York. (Garden and Forest, 23 May, 1894, vol. vii., p. 203.)

— Apricot growing in western New York. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, Aug., 1894, no. 71, p. 271.)

— The battle of the plums. (In Peninsula Horticultural Soc. Transactions, Feb., 1895, p. 27.)

— Carex. (In Couiter, J. M. Botany of western Texas. 1894. pp. 476.)

Contributions from the U. S. National Herbarium, vol. ii.

— The commonest faults in home grounds. (Landscape Architect, Oct., 1894, vol. i., p. 32.)

— Coxey's army and the Russian thistle [abstract]. (In Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science. Proceedings, 1894, vol. xliiii., p. 442.)

— The cultivated poplars, with remarks upon the planting of grounds. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, Aug., 1894, no. 68, p. 205.)

— The cultivation of orchards. (Same, Sept., 1894, no. 72, p. 297.)

— Electricity and plant growing. (In Mass. Horticultural Soc. Transactions, 1894.)

— The evolution of tillage. (In Western N. Y. Horticultural Soc. Proceedings, 1894, vol. xl., p. 85.)

— Experimental evolution amongst plants; address before the Mass. Horticultural Soc. [abstract]. (Boston Transcript, 23 Feb., 1895.)

— Hints on the planting of orchards. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, Aug. 1894, no. 69, p. 243.)

— Horticultural observations. (In Peninsula Horticultural Soc. Transactions, Feb., 1895, p. 95.)

— Impressions of the peach industry in western New York. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, Oct., 1894, no. 74, p. 361.)

— The native dwarf cherries. (Same, Aug., 1894, no. 70, p. 259.)

— The natural history of synonyms. (In Amer. Assoc. of Nurserymen. Proceedings, 1894, vol. xix., p. 32.)

— Neo-Lamarckism and neo-Darwinism. (Amer. Naturalist, Aug., 1894, vol. xxviii., p. 661.)

Abstract of an address before the Philosophical Club of Cornell University.

— Peach-growing. (Garden and Forest, 21 Nov., 1894, vol. vii., p. 467.)

— Peach yellows. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, Oct., 1894, no. 75, p. 393.)

— The plant individual in the light of evolution; the philosophy of bud-variation and its bearing upon Weismannism. (Science, 15 March, 1895, N. S. vol. i., p. 281.)

Address before the Biological Society of Washington, Jan. 12, 1895.

— The recent apple failures of western New York. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, Jan., 1895, no. 84, p. 5.)

— Relation of age to type of variability [abstract]. (In Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science. Proceedings, 1894, vol. xliii., p. 255.)

— Sketch of a century of American horticulture. (Florist's Exchange, 30 March, 1895, vol. vii., p. 387.)

— Some interrelations of climatology and horticulture. (In International Meteorological Congress, Chicago, 1893. Report, 1894, p. 431.)

— Some recent Chinese vegetables. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, June, 1894, no. 67, p. 177.)

— Spraying lessons of 1894. (In Peninsula Horticultural Soc. Transactions, Feb., 1895, p. 37.)

— The struggle for existence under cultivation [abstract]. (In Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science. Proceedings, 1894, vol. xliii., p. 255.)

— Varieties and leaf-blight of the strawberry. (Cornell University—Agricultural Experiment Station. Bulletin, Dec., 1894, no. 79, p. 583.)

— The vegetable pathologist, or plant doctor. (Florist's Exchange, 27 Oct., 1894, vol. vi., p. 52.)

— Whence came the cultivated strawberry? Lecture before the class in horticulture. (Amer. Naturalist, April, 1894, vol. xxviii., p. 294.)

—, editor. Gray's Field, forest, and garden botany, revised and extended by L. H. Bailey. New York, 1894. 8°. pp. 519.

—, associate editor. Johnson's universal cyclopædia. New ed., vol. iv.-vi. New York, 1894. 3 v. 4°.

Professor Bailey is associate editor for the department of Agriculture, Horticulture, etc. and has contributed the following articles to the work:

Vol. iv. Greenhouse; Horticulture; Hybridism or Hybridity; Indigo; Insecticide; Irrigation; Job's Tears; June-berry; Kale, etc.;—

Vol. v. Lettuce; Medlar; Melon, etc.;—

Vol. vi. Mulberry; Nectarine; Nursery; Oleander; Olericulture; Onion; Orange; Orchids; Palmetto; Papaw; Parsley; Parsnip; Passion Flower; Pea; Peach; Pear; Pecan; Peony; Persimmon; Phlox; Planer-tree; Plantain; Plum; Pomology; Poplar; Poppy; Potato; Primrose; Privet; Pruning; Quince.

Barr, J. H. Kinematics of machinery; a brief treatise on constrained motions of machine elements. Ithaca, N. Y., 1894. 8°. pp. 175 and Atlas of 28 plates. 8°.

— The comparison of simple and compound engine diagrams. (Sibley Jour., Jan., 1895, vol. ix., p. 149.)

— Experiments on a system of governing by compression. (In Amer. Soc. of Mechanical Engineers. Transactions, Dec., 1894.)

To form a part of vol. xvi. of the Transactions.

— The factor of safety. (Sibley Jour., April, 1894, vol. viii., p. 290.)

— A method of determining the point of cut-off corresponding to a known mean effective pressure. (Same, Nov., 1894, vol. ix., p. 53.)

— Teaching machine design. (In Soc. for the Promotion of Engineering Education. Transactions, 1894, vol. ii.)

— A definition of reactance [letter to the editor]. (Electrical World, 5 Jan., 1895, vol. xxv., p. 22.)

— Equivalent sine-wave [discussion]. (In Amer. Institute of Electrical Engineers. Transactions, 1894, vol. xi., p. 741.)

— Hysteresis and the shape of the current curve. (In Amer. Institute of Electrical Engineers. Transactions, 1894, vol. xi., p. 741.)

— Inductance [discussion]. (In same, p. 325.)

— Lag angle of alternating currents [discussion]. (Electrical World, 17 Nov., 1894, vol. xxiv., p. 518.)

— Also in Transactions of Amer. Institute of Electrical Engineers, 1894, vol. xi., p. 743.

— On magnetic potential. (Physical Review, Jan., 1895, vol. ii., p. 298.)

Presented before the Amer. Assoc. for the Advancement of Science, Brooklyn, Aug., 1894. Published also in Electrical World, 16 Feb., 1895, vol. xxv., p. 295; abstract in Jour. of the Physical Soc. of London, March, 1895, p. 127.

— Articles in Johnson's universal cyclopædia:—
Vol. v. Magnet; Magnetism; Magnetism of Iron.

Bedell, F., and A. C. Crehore. Étude analytique et graphique des courants alternatifs; traduit de la 2^e éd. anglaise par J. Berthon. Paris, 1895. 8°. pp. viii + 264. 112 figs.

— Action of a transformer with a condenser in parallel with the secondary [4 articles]. (Electrical World, Aug.-Oct., 1894, vol. xxiv., pp. 117, 176, 234, 363.)

— Alternating arc-light carbons [letter to the editor]. (Electrician [London], 9 Nov., 1894, vol. xxxiv., p. 49.)

— Consumption of alternating arc carbons. (Electrical World, 15 Dec., 1894, vol. xxiv., p. 613.)

Bedell, F., and C. Kinsley. A study of residual charges of condensers and their dependence in temperature. (In Amer. Institute of Electrical Engineers. Transactions, Aug., Sept., 1894, vol. x., p. 469.)

Also in the Physical Review, Nov., 1894, vol. ii., p. 170; and abstracts in Electrical Review [N. Y.], 14 Nov., 1894, vol. xxv., p. 246; Electrical World, 29 Sept., 1894, vol. xxiv., p. 314; Jour. of the Physical Soc., London, March, 1895, p. 12.

Bedell, F., and H. J. Ryan. Action of a single-phase synchronous motor. (Jour. of the Franklin Institute, March, 1895, vol. cxxxix., p. 197.)

Also abstract in Electrical World, 30 March, 1895, vol. xxv., p. 391.

Bedell, F., joint author. The definition of reactance; by C. P. Steinmetz and F. Bedell. (Electrical World, 1 Dec., 1894, vol. xxiv., p. 565.)

Also in Electrical Review [N. Y.], 28 Nov., 1894, vol. xxv., p. 266; Transactions of the Amer. Institute of Electrical Engineers, Nov., 1894, vol. xi., p. 772.

—, assistant editor. The physical review. July, 1894-March, 1895.

— See also Moler, G. S., and F. Bedell. An optical phase indicator and synchronizer.

Bennett, C. E. A Latin grammar. Boston, 1895. 12°. pp. x + 265.

LIBRARY NOTES.

1. The Library Council.—The general care and supervision of the University Library is intrusted to the Library Council. This Council consists of the President of the University, who shall be ex-officio Chairman of the Council, of the Librarian, or in his absence the Acting Librarian, and five elected members, one of whom shall be elected by the Executive Committee, and four by the General Faculty. The election of members shall take place annually as near the beginning of the collegiate year as may be practicable. Persons elected shall hold office till their successors are chosen.

The members of the Council for the year 1895-96 are: President J. G. Schurman, Chairman, and G. W. Harris, Secretary, ex-officio; R. H. Treman, elected by the Executive Committee; Professors I. P. Church, J. H. Comstock, J. W. Jenks, and H. S. White, elected by the Faculty.

2. The Library Staff.—The staff of the University Library comprises the following persons: George William Harris, Librarian; Andrew Curtis White, Assistant Librarian (in charge of accessions and classification); Willard Henry Austin, Assistant Librarian (in charge of the Reference Library); George Lincoln Burr, Librarian of the White Historical Library; Mary Fowler, First Cataloguer; Alexey V. Babine, Theodore W. Koch, Emma A. Runner, Cataloguers; Mary E. Griswold, Assistant in Ordering Department; George F. Danforth, Assistant in the Reference Library; Jennie Thornburg, Assistant in Accession Department.

3. Library Statistics.—The following items concerning the growth and use of the Library are epitomized from the Annual Report of the Librarian for the year 1895-96. During the year there were added to the collections composing the General Library 12,218 volumes, and about 1,100 pamphlets, and to the Law School Library 662 volumes. At the date of the report the General Library, including the White Historical Library and the seminary collections, contained 150,390 volumes, and the Law School Library contained 23,403 volumes, making in all 173,793 volumes exclusive of pamphlets. The accessions of this year may be fairly taken as representing the normal average rate of growth with the present endowments. Of the 12,218 volumes added to the General Library, 4,624 volumes were received as gifts. The largest gift of the year consists of the additions made by ex-President White to the White Historical Library, numbering over 1,200 volumes. To the Dante collection, presented in 1893-94 by Willard Fiske, its donor has during the past year added over 1,000 volumes, and this unique collection now numbers between 4,000 and 5,000 volumes.

The recorded use of the Library shows a great increase over previous years, the figures having grown from 33,840 volumes in 1891-92, the first year in the new building, to 74,889 in 1893-94, and 93,507 in 1894-95.

4. Distribution of the Book Funds.—For the year 1895-96 the sum available for the increase of the Library is $16,750; of this sum $800 is appropriated from the general funds of the University for the purchase of historical works for the President White Library, and is to be expended under the direction of a special committee; $50 is the income of a special fund for a collection of the Victorian Poets; $15,900 is the income of the Sage Endowment Fund, to be disposed of by the Library Council, for the purchase of books and periodicals for the University Library.

At the meeting of the Council held Oct. 30, a plan of distribution of the income of the Sage Endowment Fund, was adopted, based upon the principle of giving recognition, in the general list of departments, to all subjects taught in the University, and adding a few subjects not thus cared for; thus recognizing all subjects by a small appropriation, and yet maintaining the principle of keeping the expenditure for this list within about one-third of the total expenditure. The need for books, however, is not in proportion to the officers of instruction, nor is it possible to state justly the relative importance of subjects to each other. Weak or neglected departments must be treated on different grounds from some others. Therefore it was believed that this could be best managed by leaving the reserve fund large, to be assigned at the wisdom of the Council to the departments making the strongest requests. It was resolved that this system should be explained by a statement sent to each officer at the beginning of the year, and that no grants should be made from the reserve fund before November 15th of each year.

A list of sixty subjects was adopted, and to each subject was assigned a unit or part of a unit, the unit being taken at $100. The total sum thus distributed is $5,700. To the current periodical list was assigned the sum of $2,800. In recognition of the need of supplementing the grants to specific departments by a fund from which purchases of works not properly falling within any one of these departments, but important and necessary for the general usefulness and symmetrical development of the Library, might be made, it was voted that a discretionary fund of $1,000 be placed at the disposition of the Librarian for the purchase of such works. With a view to a systematic effort toward filling up important sets of periodicals and transactions now incomplete, the Council resolved that a list of the most important and desirable sets be handed in from each department, and it was voted that the sum of $1,000 be appropriated for the purchase of such sets on these lists as may, in the course of the year, come into the market at reasonable prices. After making these general appropriations there remains at the disposal of the Council a reserve fund of $5,400 for strengthening weak or neglected departments.

LIBRARY NOTES.

1. South American Collection.—The Library has recently purchased the valuable collection of books relating to South America, gathered by the well-known naturalist, Herbert H. Smith, during his residence in Brazil. The collection numbers about eight hundred volumes and some seven hundred pamphlets, and, while it is richest in books relating to Brazil, the literature concerning other South American countries is well represented. The pamphlets include many productions of South American local presses which are never to be found in the markets of Europe or this country.

2. The Library Bulletin.—For some time it has seemed doubtful if the usefulness of the Bulletin to those for whom it was primarily intended to be of service, were sufficient to justify the labor and expense of preparing and issuing it. After careful consideration of the question at the last meeting of the Library Council it was unanimously decided to discontinue the publication of the Bulletin. Accordingly the present number, completing the third volume, will be the last to appear. Arrangements have been made for continuing the annual record of publications by University Officers, and this record which has heretofore appeared in the Bulletin will henceforth be issued as a supplement to the Annual Report of the President of the University. It may be noted here that the General Finding List of the miscellaneous portion of the President White Historical Library is now in press, and that a catalogue of the Dante collection is nearly ready for the printers, and it is probable that from time to time other catalogues of special collections in the University Library will be issued.
